

ANNUAL CONFERENCE 2019 NORTHERN IDAHO

Friday - Sunday, June 21-23, 2019

Extraction and Recreation: Sensitive Redevelopments and Faustian Bargains

Join us in Idaho's Silver Valley, the perfect place to consider this year's conference theme on extractive industries and recreation. While the paper sessions will be held in Coeur d'Alene, tours will venture out to Wallace, the heart of the historic mining district, and to an outstanding adaptive reuse project in Sandpoint. On Friday, a tour of Fort Sherman and a personalized presentation will introduce the history of North Idaho. The papers will highlight relevant examples in Montana and Washington, considering a range of projects from mining towns to state parks.

On Friday night, we will be treated to a unique introduction to the region by prominent Portland architect (and long-time SAH/MDR member) Bill Hawkins, who has deep roots in North Idaho. Drawing from his collection of letters and memorabilia, he will provide a personal view, describing his family's role in opening up the region and working for the Northern Pacific Railroad.

Rogers House, Lopez Island, Gordon Walker

On Saturday night the keynote presentation will feature noted Seattle architect, Gordon Walker, widely acknowledged as one of the masters of Pacific Northwest architecture. He will discuss his work, which includes notable residences and commercial buildings from California to Canada. Gordon also brings a local perspective, as a Sandpoint native and a graduate of the University of Idaho. He is now a consulting architect with Mithun in Seattle. We will also be able to tour a house in Sandpoint designed by one of Gordon's former students, Katie Eglund Cox.

DETAILED PROGRAM

Friday, June 21st

- 3:00 – 4:30 pm Fort Sherman Tour
Early arrivals can tour historic Fort Sherman with Robert Singletary of the Museum of North Idaho. Meet at the beautiful 1880 chapel (332 Hubbard) near the North Idaho College campus. The fort was in use from 1878 to 1890.

Fort Sherman Chapel, Museum of North Idaho

- 5:30 – 6:30pm Social Hour and Conference Registration
Friday night is our traditional kick-off event, a chance for everyone to get acquainted and re-acquainted. This will be held at the National Register-listed Roosevelt Inn, a 1905 schoolhouse located at 105 E. Wallace Avenue in downtown Coeur d'Alene. A no-host bar and hearty appetizers will be served. The registration table will be set up so that you can pick up your conference packet. We prefer that you register for the conference beforehand, but if not, you may register at this time; however, we will only be able to accept cash and checks.

Roosevelt Inn

- 6:30 – 7:30pm Evening Presentation
Our introduction to the region will be by one of our own members, Portland architect Bill Hawkins, who will portray the early days of North Idaho's development based on his family's history with building the Northern Pacific Railroad.

Saturday, June 22nd

- 7:30 – 8:15am Registration and Continental Breakfast
Early morning registration and a continental breakfast will be waiting for you at North Idaho College's Edminster Student Union (Driftwood Bay Room). The college is located close to downtown at 1000 W. Garden Avenue. We prefer that you register for the conference beforehand, but if not, you may register at this time; however, we will only be able to accept cash and checks.
- 8:15 – 8:30am Welcome and Announcements
Our Chapter President, Diana Painter, will kick off the meeting with an overview of conference activities.

8:30 – 9:30am Session I (Driftwood Bay Room, NIC)
(20 min presentations and 10 minutes each Q&A)

Theory and Practice:

- Future-Proofing and Panarchy: Adaptive Cycles in the Historic Built Environment by Brian Rich, RICHAVEN Architecture & Preservation, Seattle
- Bannack State Park: A History of Arrested Decay by Lesley Gilmore, Preservation Architect, Gallatin Gateway MT

9:30 – 9:45am Break

9:45 – 10:45am Session II (Driftwood Bay Room, NIC)
(20 min presentations and 10 minutes each Q&A)

From Industry to Tourism:

- Co-op Gas & Supply and The Granary by Diana Painter

11:15 – 12:15pm Lunch and Annual General Meeting (lunch included with registration). Note that this is an election year for us, so it is important to attend. We will also have announcements about the 2020 meeting in Seattle in conjunction with the SAH International meeting.

12:30 – 5:30 pm Sandpoint (carpool)

Tour of Sandpoint’s Co-op Gas & Supply and the rehabilitated Granary District (524 West Church Street). The architect, Dustin Chapin, and property owner, Steve Holt, will be on hand to tell us about rehabilitation plans for Sandpoint’s last grain elevator.

The Granary

Tour of Cox House. We are pleased to be given the opportunity to tour Larch House, (299 Ravenwood Drive) designed by Gordon Walker’s former student, Katie Eglund Cox, which she describes as a “once in a lifetime experience.”

Downtown Sandpoint. As time is available, conference goers may want to explore downtown Sandpoint, a National Register-listed historic district.

5:30-6:30 pm Break

6:30 - 8:30pm Banquet and Keynote at the Greenbriar Inn

The historic Greenbriar Inn (315 E. Wallace Avenue, Coeur d'Alene) will host our annual banquet and keynote presentation. Following a social hour and dinner, Seattle architect Gordon Walker will talk about his work, including a variety of residential and commercial projects. Gordon is the subject of a forthcoming monograph by long-time SAH/MDR member and supporter Grant Hildebrand. Professor Emeritus of the University of Washington. He describes Walker's design work as "an architecture of exceptional merit." More about the book, which will be released in July, and Gordon's work and design process, can be found at:

Sunday, June 23rd

9:00am – 12:00pm Tour of Wallace (carpool)

Sunday provides an opportunity to explore Wallace, a mining town nestled in a narrow valley fifty miles east of Coeur d'Alene. Much of the town is a National Register historic district, with outstanding buildings and intriguing museums.

12:00 – 1:00pm Lunch at City Limits Brew Pub

Please join us for a no-host lunch at a local favorite, the City Limits Brew Pub (108 Nine Mile Road), which brews craft beers in a century-old warehouse.

Northern Pacific Depot, Mimi Sheridan

CONFERENCE HOTEL

There is no conference hotel this year, but Coeur d'Alene is located on I-90 with numerous lodging options, including Hampton Inn, Best Western Coeur d'Alene Inn, and Springhill Suites.

REGISTRATION

There are two methods of registering for the conference. You can use Eventbrite, completing your entire registration online and paying with a credit card at no extra charge to you. Or, you can use the registration form on the last page and mail it in to us with a check.

ON YOUR OWN

For those with the time after the visit to Wallace, a side trip to Cataldo Mission would be worthwhile. Located 30 miles east of Coeur d'Alene, this National Historic Landmark was built in 1850-1853 using the wattle-and-daub method of construction. It is the oldest standing building in the state and sits in a state park with the parish house (1887), an excellent museum, two cemeteries, and nature trails.

The mining town of Kellogg features the Crystal Gold Mine, one of the few hard rock mines that has regular tours. It is 35 miles east of Coeur d'Alene and 12 miles west of Wallace. <http://goldmine-idaho.com/>
